

Target Market Determination Strategic Opportunities (Growth & Income) Fund

Introduction

This Target Market Determination (“TMD”) is required under section 994B of the Corporations Act 2001 (Cth) (“the Act”). This TMD describes the class of consumers that comprises the target market for the Strategic Opportunities (Growth & Income) Fund (“the Fund”) and matters relevant to the Fund’s distribution and review (specifically, distribution conditions, review triggers and periods, and reporting requirements). Distributors must take reasonable steps that will, or are reasonably likely to, result in distribution of the Fund being consistent with the most recent TMD (unless the distribution is excluded conduct).

This document is not a Product Disclosure Statement (“PDS”) and is not a complete summary of the features or terms of the Fund. This document does not take into account any person’s individual objectives, financial situation or needs. Persons interested in acquiring units in the Fund should carefully read the PDS for the Fund before making a decision whether to invest. Important terms used in this TMD are defined in the TMD Definitions which supplement this document. The PDS may be viewed online on at www.sogif.au.

Target Market Summary

This Fund is intended for use as a major or standalone allocation, and possibly a core component or minor allocation, (see page 10 for definitions), for a consumer who is seeking to generate passive income returns via quarterly distributions, with potential for capital growth, by investing in a diversified portfolio of efficient and inefficient assets. The consumer ought to have high tolerance for risk for that portion of their investment portfolio they plan to invest in the Fund. It is likely to be consistent with the financial situation and needs of a consumer with a medium to long-term investment timeframe, and who is unlikely to need to withdraw their money more frequently than twice per annum after 31 December 2024 (noting there is no redemption opportunity before then).

Investment Funds & Diversification

A consumer (or class of consumer) may intend to hold units in the Fund as part of a diversified portfolio (that is, holding a range of investments across multiple asset classes). In such circumstances, the Fund should be assessed against the consumer’s attributes for the relevant portion of the portfolio invested in the Fund, rather than the consumer’s portfolio as a whole. For example, a consumer may seek to construct a balanced or moderate diversified portfolio with a minor allocation to growth assets. In this case, a product with a High risk/return profile may be consistent with the consumer’s objectives for that minor allocation notwithstanding that the risk-to-return profile of the consumer as a whole is Medium. In making this assessment, distributors should consider all features of an investment product (including its key attributes).

The Financial Services Council (“FSC”) has provided more detailed guidance on how to take a portfolio view for diversification. It can be accessed on the FSC’s website. This guidance only applies where a Fund is held as part of a consumer’s diversified portfolio.

Consumer’s Investment Objective
Consumer Attributes	TMD Indicator	Fund Description Including Key Attributes
Capital Preservation	Not in target market	The Fund is a registered managed investment scheme that aims to achieve medium-to-long term capital growth by investing in a diverse portfolio of efficient assets (i.e. units in an unlisted managed fund that invests in listed securities) and inefficient assets (i.e. direct property and units in unlisted property or mortgage managed investment schemes). It is intended that the Fund’s asset portfolio will include income and growth assets.
Income Distribution	In target market	The Fund is intended for consumers with an investment objective of income distribution and potential capital growth. It may be suitable for consumers seeking income distributions on a quarterly basis after 30 June 2024. Distributions will consist of trust income, deferred tax amounts, and returns of capital. Income will be generated by way of dividends and distributions from efficient assets, rent and capital gains from inefficient assets, and interest from cash, bonds and money-market instruments.
Capital Growth	In target market

Portfolio Diversification (for completing the key product attribute section of consumer's intended product use)

Note: exposures to cash and cash-like instruments may sit outside the diversification framework below.

Diversification	TMD Indicator	Product Exposure To	Illustrative Asset Class
Very High	In target market	A large number of holdings across a broad range of asset classes, sectors and geographic markets with limited correlation to each other.
High	In target market	A large number of holdings (for example, over 50 securities) in multiple broad asset classes, sectors or geographic markets.	Global equities.
Medium	Potentially in target market	A moderate number of holdings (for example, up to 50 securities) in at least one broad asset class, sector or geographic market.	Australian fixed income securities or global natural resources.
Low	Not in target market	A small number of holdings (for example, fewer than 25 securities) or a narrow asset class, sector or geographic market.	A single major commodity (e.g. gold) or equities from a single emerging market economy.
Very Low	Not in target market	A single asset or a niche asset class.	A commercial property, minor commodities, crypto-assets or collectibles.

Long term (> 5 years)	In target market

Consumer's Need To Access Capital
Before 31/12/2024	Not in target market	PCL does not intend to honour any redemption requests until 31 December 2024.
After 31/12/2024	In target market	After 31 December 2024, PCL intends to offer two redemption opportunities (April and October) each year, subject to the Fund being liquid (within the meaning of the Corporations Act). This product may not be suitable for consumers who need more frequent access to their capital (for example, access to capital quarterly, monthly, weekly or daily).
Note: Before making a redemption offer, PCL will determine an amount of cash within the Fund available to satisfy redemptions requests. An offer will then be made to investors over a one-month period to submit a redemption request. If PCL has received redemption requests for an amount in excess of the amount of cash available to satisfy requests, the redemption amount will be reduced on a pro-rata basis. PCL must pay the redemption price and cancel the units within 30 days after the close of a redemption period.

Consumer's Risk (i.e. Ability To Bear Loss) & Return Profile (Cont'd)

The Fund should be assessed against the consumer's attributes for the relevant portion of the portfolio invested in the Fund, rather than the consumer's portfolio as a whole. The Fund:

- may be suitable for a consumer with a medium-to-high tolerance to, or appetite for, risk and who could accept 5 – 6 years of potential losses over a 20 year period.
- intends to hold a mix of assets with different risk levels and it is expected that cash and money market instruments may have a medium level of risk, whereas bonds and efficient assets may have a medium-to-high level of risk, and inefficient assets may have a high level of risk, depending on their leverage.
- will not invest in very high and extremely high risk assets such as hedge funds and derivatives (other than to hedge other investment positions) and crypto-assets.

Definitions

In some instances, examples have been provided below. These examples are indicative only and not exhaustive.

Consumer's Investment Objective
Capital Preservation	The consumer seeks to invest in a Fund designed or expected to have low volatility and minimise capital loss. The consumer prefers exposure to defensive assets that are generally lower in risk and less volatile than growth investments (this may include cash or fixed income securities).
Income Distribution	The consumer seeks to invest in a Fund designed or expected to distribute regular and/or tax-effective income. The consumer prefers exposure to income-generating assets (this may include high dividend-yielding equities, fixed income securities and money market instruments).
Capital Growth	The consumer seeks to invest in a Fund designed or expected to generate capital return over the investment timeframe. The consumer prefers exposure to growth assets (such as shares or property) or otherwise seeks an investment return above the current inflation rate.

Consumer's Intended Fund Use (% of Investable Assets)
(Investable Assets are those assets that the investor has available for investment, excluding the residential home.)
Allocation Type	Up To % Of Investable Assets	Level Of Portfolio Diversification

Target Market Determination

Strategic Opportunities (Growth & Income) Fund

Consumer's Intended Minimum Investment Timeframe

The minimum suggested timeframe for holding the Fund. Typically, this is the rolling period over which the investment objective of the Fund is likely to be achieved.

Consumer's Need To Access Capital

This consumer attribute addresses the likely period of time between the making of a request for redemption/withdrawal (or access to investment proceeds more generally) and the receipt of proceeds from this request under ordinary circumstances. Issuers should consider both the frequency for accepting the request and the length of time to accept, process and distribute the proceeds of such a request. To the extent that the liquidity of the underlying investments or possible liquidity constraints (e.g. ability to stagger or delay redemptions) could impact this, this is to be taken into consideration in aligning the Fund to the consumer's need to access capital.

Where a Fund is held on investment platforms, distributors also need to factor in the length of time platforms take to process requests for redemption for underlying investments. Where access to investment proceeds from the Fund is likely to occur through a secondary market, the liquidity of the market for the Fund and likely realisable value on market should be considered, including in times of market stress.

Consumer's Risk (i.e. Ability To Bear Loss) & Return Profile

This TMD uses the Standard Risk Measure ("SRM") to estimate the likely number of negative annual returns for this Fund over a 20 year period, using the guidance and methodology outlined in the Standard Risk Measure Guidance Paper For Trustees (note the bands in the SRM guidance differ from the bands used in this TMD). However, SRM is not a complete assessment of risk and potential loss. For example, it does not detail important issues such as the potential size of a negative return (including under conditions of market stress) or that a positive return could still be less than a consumer requires to meet their investment objectives/needs.

The SRM methodology may be supplemented by other risk factors, such as: the use of leverage; derivatives or short selling; liquidity or withdrawal limitations; valuation risks or risks of capital loss; or otherwise may have a complex structure or increased investment risks (which should be documented together with the SRM to substantiate the investment product's risk rating). A consumer's desired return profile would generally take into account the impact of fees, costs and taxes.

Distributor Reporting
Significant dealings	Section 994F(6) of the Act requires distributors to notify the issuer if they become aware of a significant dealing in the product that is not consistent with the TMD. Neither the Act nor ASIC defines when a dealing is ‘significant’ and distributors have discretion to apply its ordinary meaning. The issuer will rely on notifications of significant dealings to monitor and review the product, this TMD, and its distribution strategy, and to meet its own obligation to report significant dealings to ASIC. Dealings outside this TMD may be significant because: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • They represent a material proportion of the overall distribution conduct carried out by the distributor in relation to the product, or • They constitute an individual transaction which has resulted in, or will or is likely to result in, significant detriment to the consumer (or class of consumer). In each case, the distributor should have regard to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The nature and risk profile of the product (which may be indicated by the product’s risk rating or withdrawal timeframes), • The actual or potential harm to a consumer (which may be indicated by the value of the consumer’s investment, their intended product use or their ability to bear loss), and • The nature and extent of the inconsistency of distribution with the TMD (which may be indicated by the number of red and/or amber ratings attributed to the consumer). Objectively, a distributor may consider a dealing (or group of dealings) outside the TMD to be significant if: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • It constitutes more than half of the distributor’s total retail product distribution conduct in relation to the product over the quarter, • The consumer’s intended product use is solution/standalone, • The consumer’s intended product use is core component or higher and the consumer’s risk/return profile is low, or • The relevant product has a green rating for consumers seeking extremely high risk/return.
